The Top Five Reasons Your Students Should Attend the Atlanta National College Fair

- 1. More than 175 colleges and universities will be in attendance
- 2. Speak one on one with admission representatives
- 3. Useful workshops on topics such as the college search process, financial aid, and college essay writing
- 4. Meet with college admission experts at the Counseling Center
- 5. It's FREE and OPEN to the public!

Online student registration is now open for students who plan to attend the Atlanta National College Fair on Sunday, February 12, 2012 from 12-4pm at the Georgia World Congress Center. To register, visit www.gotomyncf.com.

When your students register, a bar coded confirmation page is produced. When printed and brought to the fair, this page acts as the student's electronic ID. Utilizing this barcode eliminates the need for students to fill out inquiry cards at the booths they visit. Online registration leaves more time for students and parents to chat with more admissions representatives. Encourage your students to register before they come to the fair!

Here is how the process works:

Step 1

Visit www.gotomyncf.com prior to attending the fair to register. Students will be asked a few short questions regarding their graduation information, home address, and interested major so schools can send them information after the Fair.

Step 2

Complete the online registration form. Print the barcode identification page and have students bring it along to the fair.

Step 3

Colleges at the fair will scan the student's barcode to access their information, allowing more time for one-on-one conversations and less time filling out inquiry cards.

For Counselors: Importing Student Data

At select college fairs counselors have the option to import all student data to a single NCF database. This process makes it easier for students and counselors to access their registration information. This step-by-step guide will walk you through the process if your school attends one of these fairs. To encourage your district to adopt this service, contact the Technology Resource Corporation.

New! National College Fair information is now available in Spanish!

About the Program

Every year, more than 500,000 students attend National College Fairs seeking information about colleges, universities and other postsecondary institutions. Free and open to the public, National College Fairs and Performing and Visual Arts College Fairs allow students to interact with admission representatives from a wide range of postsecondary institutions to discuss course offerings, admission and financial aid requirements, college life in general, and other information pertinent to the college selection process. National College Fairs span the US from coast to coast and visit every major metropolitan area nationwide. We continue to grow and add to our network of markets to meet the needs of students. The quality of the National College Fairs program is unmatched by any other college fairs in the nation. Since 1972, National College Fairs has been one of the most reputable and productive recruiting tools available to postsecondary institutions.
